

Securing your future

Security & Risk Management

Introduction

CTR Services are a professional and proven security and risk consultancy specialising in corporate risk, specialist security, high level investigations and business continuity. Our unique approach allows us to support our clients in understanding, managing and reducing associated risk. We provide services that promote risk free environments, this is achieved through commitment, quality and experience backed by professional staff and our dynamic approach.

Whether managing your organisation's risk, securing valuable assets or providing specialist support, our level of commitment and breadth of services are second to none. With unparalleled coverage of the UK for specialist security services and with dedicated offices overseas, we are a preferred supplier to various industries and clients.

We address each client on an individual basis and by doing so provide specific and relevant mitigation solutions. Our infrastructure, people, geographical coverage and breadth of services places us as a leading security and risk consultancy.

Our People

Our people are what make CTR Services excel in it's field of operation, the unique and diverse internal culture promotes a company that is best placed to deliver results. In addition, the skills and knowledge held by our people allow us to cater your every need backed by security managers, legal practitioners, analysts and subject matter experts.

Our Values

As a professional company, it is important to us that our operational footprint works alongside the beliefs and cultures of the countries we operate in, the relevant legislation and our client's policies. Our client's can be assured of complete professionalism and a confidence in support backed by integrity and accountability.

How can we assist?

CTR Services provide varying levels of service to ensure that each client receive relevant and specific support, the common factor is that all services relate to promoting secure environments and reducing risk.

Examples of support

Executive Close Protection to individuals in order to provide a safe living and working environment, this could be in response to an identified threat or to increase the security whether from a personal or business perspective.

Asset Protection is provided in order to safeguard various assets specific to your business or your industry, this is a main service provision for CTR Services. In addition to providing suitable security measures for your assets whether technical or physical, we also have the capability to assess and report our findings on the best course of action to safeguard your valuable assets.

Investigations and Intelligence is a valuable asset to have and can be used as both a proactive and reactive solution, the company have been involved in investigative solutions for many years and has serviced many organisations in that time. CTR Services are also providers of investigation and intelligence based development training, this allows us to ensure that all investigators and surveillance officers are trained to the highest standards.

Risk Management is paramount in order to successfully safeguard your organisation and also when making critical decisions in relation to corporate expansion. The use of ethical security solutions and risk mitigation strategies are provided as standard by our company, this approach distinguishes us from many competitors.

Surveillance has been found as one of the best ways of obtaining the correct information and also implementing under cover operations. Our surveillance teams operate nationally within the UK and also internationally where required. Surveillance teams are provided with up to date specialist training and standard operating procedures, they also possess extensive military or police backgrounds.

Industry Specific services allow us to operate over many different industries from oil and gas through to healthcare, we have gained valuable experience working with various industries. As an experienced company, we are able to understand our client's requirements whichever industry they operate in from healthcare through to the ever dynamic oil and gas industry. Our experienced industry specific staff are able to liaise, understand and manage contracts relevant to your industry.

Our Approach

As a professional company, we always attempt to build strong and effective relations with our clients and hence we have built a reputation second to none. Once we have received your initial enquiry then we are able to identify if and to what extent we can assist, we aim to implement any further action or recommendation based on your objectives and timescales.

We have unrivaled coverage of the UK for specialist support and also have dedicated offices and operational centres overseas.

Assess • Mitigate • Protect